MARION, CRITTENDEN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, AUG. 6, 1908.

PASSING OF A PIONEER

In Mrs. Hibbs Death--County Loses One of Its Oldest Residents--Came From Meade County Seventy Years Ago.

SERIOUS ILLNESS WAS OF ONLY A FEW DAYS DURATION.

Last Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Mary Lucile Hibbs died at her residence on Salem street in this city, in her seventy-fifth year. Her children were all with her when the end came. Mr. J. M. Barnes, of Tolu, having been summoned several days before and the others, all making their home with her, being Mrs. Lemmah Nunn wife of C. S. Nunn, and Misses Ninna and Della Barnes. Her sister, Mrs. Sarah Guess, the widow of Jose Guess, of Tolu, was also present, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Guess, Miss Mary Colfield, her grand daughter, who has lived with her for several years was also with her grand mother when she died. Mrs. Hibbs had been in feeble health all summer but her serious illness was of only a few days duration, but was of such a serious nature that her family and friends had been prepared for her death and expecting it for several days.

Besides her relatives mentioned, she is survived by one brother, A. P. Shanks, of Gold Dust, Tenn., and a sister, Mrs. Gordon S. Flannery, of Texas.

Mrs. Hibbs was a daughter of Mentor Shanks who moved to this county from Brandenburg, Ky., seventy years ago when she was a little girl. Her mother was a Miss Yeakey and she was related to all that large family in this county. H. M. Cook and Mrs. Isabel Flannery, of this city, are her first cousins.

She was born at Brandenburg, Meade Co., April 2nd, 1834. Her first marriage was to Wm. Barnes, April 20th, 1852, soon after his return from California whither he had gone in 1849 when gold was discovered there. Mr. Barnes died in 1887, and his widow married J. L. Hibbs, of Birdsville, Ky., Aug. 14th, 1895. Mr. Hibbs died ten years ago.

Mrs. Hibbs was a lovely Christian character and a woman of great refinement. She was modest and retiring in manner and was beloved by a wide circle of friends.

Her membership was with the Baptist church here, but was originally at Dunn Springs, which is near the old Shanks place where her father first located after moving to this county. The funeral was held at the residence Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment at the new cemetery, Rev. J. S. Henry officiating.

Letter From Georgia.

Mr. S. M. Jenkins, as I am a reader of the Record Press and as an ex citizen of your county and state, I feel an interest in your county and especially do I feel a keen interest in my neighbors and friends who live in old Crittenden whom I have learned to love and esteem and I shall always hold them in grateful remembrance, and I feel a personal interest in their prosperity and adversity not as Baptists or Methodists, Democrats or Republicans, but as neighbors and friends, and my absence from you all serves only to strengthen my regard toward you all of course the Record-Press too, I esteem very much as a letter from home each week, but it tells its tales of sadness as well as those of joy. The ruthless murder of Mr. James Sullenger was a sad affair, and I greatly sympathize with his family in their bereavement.

I must say that I feel interested in the trouble that has arisen between the speculator and tobacco growers of Kentucky, and I must say too, that it does seem to me that the good people of Kentucky have suffered those blood suckers to live and prosper long enough on the blood they have unjustly drawn from the honest farmers and laborers of this country. These things will continue just as long as the people will allow it. The golden rule has been reversed and we now have the rule of gold, and it seems to be very popular with the majority in the United States, and until the people are set free from its damnable influence we may expect to have night riders, strikes and riots and the shedding of blood as a consequence. How shall we stop these things, (by simply doing right) vote for no man who will not pledge himself to do all in his power for the repeal of all laws favoring the combination of capital and the formation of trusts to rob the farmers and laborers of this country, and pass a law to hang every man that attempts to do so in this country and this season we get rid of him the better. When is the blood of our forefathers? What was it shed for? It was for freedom and to get rid of unjust taxation. The same spirit is responsible for the night riding in Kentucky. The men who are permitted to combine their wealth and all the power and influence at their command for the purpose of robbing the honest tobacco growers are the ones to be punished, and also those who legalize and support such a principle. I know there is none so blind as those who will not see, but it seems to me that the blind ought to see where the trouble is and who is responsible for it and the remedy.

I would be glad if some one would give us through the columns of the Record-Press the average prices paid for tobacco for each year from 1880 to 1906. Also the price paid for 1907 crop that we may see what a contrast in prices exist.

Now in conclusion I must say I do think the tobacco grower have a just cause for complaint, and I do hope they may be able by just and honorable means to bind hand and foot every power that has taken a hand in oppressing them and I believe the time is near at hand when they will be able to do it. I cannot forecast the future, but I believe there is a great shaking up just ahead, and if it don't shake the leeches from our body politic I shall be greatly disappointed. P. E. J. BETTIS.

"A Good Reputation Is

A Fair Estate."

This maxim is well applied to the Sun Brothers' Greater Progressive Shows, that will appear here shortly. Many new features will be exhibited at Marion Tuesday Aug. 18th. The value of a good name as a trademark in winning the confidence and esteem of the public was never better exemplified than in the case of Sun Brothers' Greater Progressive Shows this season. Wherever they have cast their tents and caravan, immense crowds have been in attendance. The show is bigger and better than ever. The scenic features being enlarged and the animal department being augmented by diverse now and strange beasts from distant lands. The Sun Brothers' performance is always clean and interesting and cannot fail to be instructive to everyone.

For the 1908 tour will be found at each performance, the marvelous Atlas Troupe, a company of (5) of the very greatest acrobats that ever appeared before the public. These exponents of acrobaticism, presents a series of entirely new and original feats, requiring strength, athletic skill and acrobatic agility. They execute with astonishing ease and grace the most daring, difficult and thrilling acrobatic acts imaginable. It can truthfully be said that the Atlas Troupe stand without peers in the Aerie Firmament.

In the morning at 11:30 o'clock, there will be offered on a magnificent Plaza erected in front of the Main Entrance, a series of extraordinary free exhibitions. It is announced that they will be best outdoor feats ever before given to the public gratuitously.

The doors for the "Main Top" performance will be opened at one o'clock, and the Matinee will start promptly at two o'clock. At night time the programme will start at eight o'clock and the doors will open at seven o'clock.

In His Service.

Rev. J. F. Price held a fine meeting at Brown's school house, Summer Co., Tenn., and organized a church with thirty-four members. He went from there to Boiling Springs. There was a great revival at this church. The people say that it is the greatest revival the church has had for years. The meeting continued only a week. There were fourteen professions, all young ladies and gentlemen. Bro. Price was assisted at Boiling Springs by J. C. Minner, who conducted the music, everybody was delighted with Corry's singing, and the crowd grew so immense that the church house would nothing like hold the people.

Bro. Price goes to Lebanon, Tenn., this week to attend the Bible Conference.

Has Miraculous Escape From Death.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS]

Ford Ferry, Ky., Aug. 3.--Ray Truitt, the seventeen year old son of Mrs. Lizzie Truitt, came very near meeting a horrible death half a mile from here on the Clementsburg road Friday afternoon at about 4 o'clock.

Young Truitt was returning home after having hauled a load of ties down to the river. He was working a team of mules that were young and not thoroughly broken. Yet that evening the mules walked along lazily, innocently, and with unusual docility. Thus was the untimely lad beguiled to leave his perch on the wagon and climb astride one of the treacherous mules.

The mules suddenly pricked up their ears and gave vent to their wild energy and instinct hellishness. They plunged head long up the road, bucking, leaping, surging, pawing and raising a great dust. Ray fell down between the mules, his head hit the wagon tongue, and he finally hit the ground. Mules and wagon passed over him, and he was unconscious for several moments.

When a semi-consciousness had returned he gazed up the road and saw the mules about one hundred yards away. He got on his wagon, and drove up to C. M. Clifts house about 600 yards away.

Here in incoherent language he told of the run-a-way. A physician was sent for, but could not be obtained. However, the Clift brothers dressed his wounds in short order, and by sunset young Truitt was sufficiently recovered to be carried home in a buggy.

Somebody started a report that he was killed, but that was a mistake. His injuries, although bad are not thought to be serious.

The evening was one long to be remembered by lovers of this most delightful art, and was rendered doubly pleasant by the recitations of Miss Lena Holtzclaw, the solo by the "sweet little song birds" Hazel Pollard; the duet by Lucile Pollard and Linda Jenkins, and the drill, with which the entertainment closed, in which a group of beautiful girls trained by Mrs. Pollard, drilled in a harmonious and musical step in Japanese costume, the bright colors of which added to the attraction of the scene. Among the musicians, Miss May Travis was an inspiration. Her friends not only have a right to feel proud of her but are predicting a brilliant future for her in the musical world.

Preaching a Crooked Creek.

Rev. J. T. Green will preach at Crooked Creek Friday night. He is a son of Elbert Green and wife, pioneer citizens of this county, who lived on the Fords Ferry road one mile north of where the city now stands and were members Crooked Creek church sixty years ago. Elder Green, himself, went to Sunday School at Crooked Creek fifty-five years ago when Leander Hughes was one of the teachers and taught his class. His mother was a Miss Wilborn, and he is a relative of all the Wilborns of this county.

Clement-Dorroh.

Wednesday afternoon, July 29th, at 4 o'clock Mr. W. I. Clement and Miss Isabel Dorroh, of Crayne vicinity, drove into the city to Rev. W. T. Oakley's residence and were quietly married by that eminent divine in the parlors of his residence, in an impressive way. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The groom is one of the county's best known men and is a widower. He stands high in the community where he was raised, and has lived all his life.

His bride is a sister of J. F. Dorroh, the Crayneville merchant, and she belongs to one of the best families of this section, the Dorrohs being connected in Lyon, Caldwell, Crittenden and Livingston counties.

The Record-Press joins with a host of friends in wishing them much joy in their new relations and long and useful life to each of them.

admit an increase of 5.7 per cent. in living expense over the year 1907, and that of 44.4 per cent. over the year 1897, almost double in a period of ten years. What about that? Does that justify the laboring classes in organizing? We are accused of being a "Trust," and we will admit for the sake of argument that we are—please tell me then, whose trust is the worst? Would we not, in the eyes of the law, be more justifiable fighting for the de-few other products? What would have been the status of affairs?

...ton would have brought about an average of four cents and you would have to ride your mule to town on seeond Monday and sell him for $65.00.
Under existing circumstances, with the present prices it seems to me that organization has done something for the farmers. We are not half done yet. We are going to make Armour Swift, Cudahay and Co., look like thirty cents on the fourth of July, before we are through. Somebody says that fellow is crazy. Yes that's what they said about the cotton business, the tobacco and etc. Let's see if we can do anything with the "Meat Trust." The only way we can keep them from robbing the people is not to let them have the stock.
The only way to keep them from getting the stock is, to not raise them, or have our own stock yards and cold storages pack them and sell them through our co-operative system to the southern brethren. (Can we do that? Cairo, Ill., is located so as to be one of the greatest collecting and distributing points in the United States, for stock and their products. It has the advantages of the two greatest rivers in the U. S., which will give the stock and grain raisers of the north a cheap facility shipping their products, besides a number of railroads. It also, has the advantage as a distributing point to the southern consumer. We already have a tri-state union composed of Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri, and that is only the first step toward the great co-operative system I have been trying to tell you about. Farmers of the north and south are just as dependent upon each other as an infant is upon its mother, if one prosper the other is bound to prosper.
And a co-operative system whereby the speculator, or middle man, profit may be cut out, would mean millions of dollars to both the northern and southern farmers. That money could be well spent for the better arrangement and the better living of their homes. Then our boys and girls would be content to stay at home and their home would be one of pleasure instead of one of dread and drudgery. Do you know what goes with all that great profit or duty collected from every farmer who produces any thing? These apple headed "clodes" spend it for fine clothes, automobiles, fast women and to educate their children to think we are no more than the cattle that browse the hills. I see no way for the trusts (the privileged few) to improve their schemes of robbery and chicanery. I think the only objection remaining, is that they have to winter us northern subjects. If we were a lot of hibernates all would be well with them.

EXCELLENT HEALTH ADVICE.

Mrs. M. M. Davidson, of No. 679
Clifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says:
"The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy, for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under

KERSHAW ON HIS AMENDMENT

Will All Union Papers Copy? Editor.
I feel that I owe the members some explanation of my amendment.
There are two things which I want to speak about. 1st. The word assessment. This is very ugly to many people but the fact is, brothers, that, though many of you do not know it, there was a new union perfected in St. Louis, Mo., in November 1906, whose members embraced only the leading money men of the whole world. The charter members had their pockets full of proxies. The specific objects of this Diamond union is to take a short road to annihilating all trades, labor and farm unions. The coal division got down to work at once and went to storing coal. The railroads and factories had well suit, preparatory to April 1, 1908, when they knew a new winning scheme must be made. Manufacurers went to filling up their warehouses, wholesale houses went to stocking up. The captains of finance went to arranging matters so that drafts on all small banks would be made in the summer and fall of 1907.

Then, when kings cotton, corn and hogs began to move they refused to let the small banks have money and the first gun from the batteries of the Diamond union was heard all over the world. It was shot off at Wall street.

The Diamond union has been paying special attention to the F. E. & C. U. of A. because we are cutting out the boards of trade on cotton and corn, because we are building our own warehouses, elevators and banks, because we are sending trains of corn and flour direct to our boys in the south. Now for us to lumber along at the rate we are (and yet we are doing wonders in our growth in members) would be downright foolishness. We must not only strain every nerve and brain cell, but we must strain our pocketbooks but only a little.

2nd. The next unpleasant thing my amendment will have to contend with is the word draft. But certainly, if each general organizer and state organizer gives $500 bond and each member of the national board of directors gives a $50,000 bond I can not see what inducement there will be for a graft.

The state secretary of Illinois will tell any member that I have put in nearly as many local unions in Illinois as all the others put together.
Yet I have not averaged $1.50 a day.
It is simply no use of any man or set of even close neighbors trying to put in a local unless they are qualified thoroughly for instructing in this work and to do so successfully requires a great deal of study and actual experience. To secure the services of good speakers, men who are well informed, men who understand human nature, men who understand our constitution, such men to be secure to travel day and night in the boiling sun driving rain in mud and dust and be away from their families months at a time, certainly deserve good wages. They are the ones who clear the land, plow it and plant the first crop. To kick on ten cents a month to put 1,200 first class men who are furnished with plenty of advertising matter is nothing less than case hardened senseless penuriousness clothed in some flimsy excuse to hide its business.

Now discuss this amendment thoroughly without malice or passion and let each member resolve that if by paying $3.00 in three years nine-tenths of the farmers west of the Alleghany mountains can be enrolled in our order he is determined to do so.
Ask me any question through the press or by letter and I will cheerfully answer it.

Yours fraternally,
J. E. KERSHAW,
Arlington, Ky.

To farmers and their friends: While the object of these columns primarily to advance the cause of the Society of Equity, by promulgating its principles and recording its wonderful work in state and nation, in condensed form, we shall be glad to receive contributions from our friends everywhere relative to the farmer and his interests, no matter to what organization you may belong. All such communications should be addressed to me, Fredonia, Ky., R. F. D. No. 2. Such communications must be signed as full by the writer, besides the now do plume, if any.

THE EDITOR.

Then And Now.

When we first opened our unworthy eyes and the wonders of creation burst upon our view we saw the Old Kentucky, we saw a happy and contented people. Trusts and combines were unknown; millionaires were few and far between, only the famed riches of the Rothschilds of England were told of to us by our cousins across the sea, and in our poverty we could not blush and point to a few rich men of our own whom to day would be called only in moderate circumstances or "good livers", then came to the Astors, Gould, Vanderbilts and a few others, whose riches were spoken of by the great Journals of that day under glaring headlines and read with eager relish by the people. Trade was unrestricted, every man was privileged to take whatever capital he commanded and launch forth upon the great ocean commerce. It was not till the smoke of battle between the states had lifted, that vampires who had filled themselves with the blood of the nation, still hung on to the throat of the Republic and demanded like Shylock at other pound of flesh for their part in saving the union, by gathering up government notes with their gold paying one dollar for two, and sometimes three. These notes we pay $ for $.

Our bonds were refunded with the interest payable in gold. This great debt of nearly two billions has never been paid, but we have nearly paid that sum in interest on those bonds our government feeling grateful to these self styled philanthropists, pays them interests quarterly on those bonds if they demand it, even if more bonds have to be sold to get the gold to pay with. Nor is this all, for under our banking system, as much money as the face of the bonds calls for is handed back to them to engage in the banking business with.

Other clouds rose above our horizon threatening our destruction. Congress passed into the hands of those who obeyed the will of the powerful masters; millions of acres of our public land were given away, millions more of rich pasture lands were seized by the cattle kings; then came the timber thieves whose holdings of to day would if made into lumber build all of the world anew; oil lands and coal lands were gobbled with the same rapacity that marked the other steals.

Next came the granting of franchise, and the chartering of corporations, which seemingly timid at first learned to water their stock, this being permitted by the courts they grew bolder, seized the reins of the government in several states, which they still retain and use for their personal gain and the furtherance of their schemes. We shall have only space to notice but one of these plunderers of the people. Less than twenty years ago the great tobacco trust was organized with only $400,000 capital stock today it calculates dividends on $400,000,000. What an immense sum! Could it have been honestly acquired within that period in that line of business? How much of this vast sum has been wrung from the tobacco grower, as he toiled up and down between the rows, the sweltering sun of July and August beating down upon his back, or how much has been taken from the wrecks of competitors who doing a legitimate business were forced into bankruptcy and ruin by this merciless corporation which knows no law but might.

In the good old days the mighty forest oaks were cleared away to make room for the "tobacco patch," the crop was housed and who does not remember the "tobacco hangings" and hard cider of those glad some days. The buyers came and bid for the crop, strong and honest competition, giving the farmer ample returns for his toil. Happiness, peace and prosperity reigned. Trusts were unknown. Night riders were never dreamed of. The word Kentucky and Kentuckian when spoken in any clime of the civilized world was a synonym for bravery and patriotism. How changed! We are denominated today as a commonwealth of law breakers and anarchy. Whole communities of a once law abiding and church going people, are set down as incendiaries and murderers. And in some sections whole communities have been indicted under these charges. What is the cause for this transformation of men into demons if the charges be true? These crimes were committed by somebody, and somebody should suffer the penalty of the law. I think that on this point that all good citizens are agreed, and I feel that the perpetrators themselves realize this and blame no officer within the confines of this state who has performed his duty thus, need have any fear that he will receive person violence at their hands.

Now to the main question. These accused must have some kind of an excuse or cause for committing the crimes against the plain letter of the law. There must be something to quiet the conscience of even the night riders while in the slumbers of the night, who knows but in visions he reviews the events of the last dozen years. He sees the independent buyer driven from the field by the tobacco trust, he sees the country divided into districts and a price put upon his product which he must accept or later take less. He sees eight cent tobacco of a few years before, go for three and nothing. At five cents he could live but could not keep up his farm, but at the prices set by the trust his family must suffer. He was wedded to the tobacco patch, he had looked to it as had his father and grandfather for the money to pay taxes and buy the necessities of life. He does not know which way to turn for relief, the wants of a dependent family must be met, his marriage vow spurs him to effort, the wan face of a wife who had perhaps toiled by his side in tobacco field and the ragged children appealed to him as no other power on earth could. I have seen these miserable families with my own eyes, and that only very recently, both in the Dark Belt and the Burley country, where the misery is especially noticeable. And while it is a sight to call down shame on the rulers of our proud country, it has one comfort for your feelings and that is the patriotism displayed by those heroic women and children in their poverty and rags they defy the great trust. Through two years they have waited for just compensation for their toil which they have by this writing began to realize through the Society of Equity. This patience, fortitude and patriotism is worthy of the Spartan of old.

W. J. BRYAN AND HIS GRANDCHILDREN

He begins to look for the cause of the slump in prices, he finds that there is no overproduction of tobacco; he sees factories and warehouses rotting down, closed by the trust, their owners either bought out or forced out of business. He asks if there is a law against oppressors. He finds there is, but that it is not enforced. That through their able attorneys they manage to defeat what few charges that are brought against them. He begins to think of the organization and pooling his interests with his neighbors. Trust agents discourage this and after the pool is formed he goes about among the farmers and encourages them to break the pooling obligation, offering them fancy prices in some cases to do so, even more than the pooled crop was held at. As the pool becomes more effective, the more effective becomes the trust agents and the greater premium he puts upon the farmer who would not stand by his neighbor.

We should be Equitable in viewing this tobacco question and in all others. We should demand an equal execution of the laws. Corporations and individuals should have an equal show. As much vigor should be put into the prosecution of one as the other, and I verily believe that if as much effort had been put forth to convict all other lawbreakers, as has been done against the alleged night riders, crime would have been reduced to the minimum in Kentucky.

The wanton destruction of any kind of values is a crime, whether it be the burning of a warehouse with its contents or the reduction of the value of a commodity by a corporation in open defiance of the law. The torch of the incendiary applied at night, a glare into the heavens that is spectacular, and appalling to the community, even if only a few hundred dollars worth of property goes up in ashes; but the trust works more quietly, the kid gloved gentry meet behind closed doors in gorgeous furnished apartments paid for by the sweat wrung from the brow of toiling millions. They have no competition, to speak of; from the figures furnished by the government they calculate the size of the crop, they know the foreign demand, they know the extent of home consumption. They then set a price that leaves the farmer no profit; not even living wages for his work. So at one fell blow millions of dollars of property are destroyed. There has been no demonstration, no soldiers have been called out to suppress the robbers, but on the other hand they are recognized by the powers that be as old clients and men of wonderful business sagacity, whose money when dumped into the campaign fund to corrupt the voters of the land, is as acceptable as the hard earned dollar of the patriot which he donates to meet the "legitimate expenses" of the party he has been taught to love.

It has been demonstrated also that no laws which seek to give the grower relief can be enacted in state or nation. The defeat of the McCord bill by the Senate of Kentucky last winter, and later the defeat of the bill repealing the six cent tax on manufactured tobacco by the U. S. Senate for the third time is proof enough of this.

Now in view of all these facts, we must acknowledge that we have before us two sets of law breakers and intimidators—the night riders and the trusts. Two wrongs never make a right neither, nor is it my purpose to excuse either before the law. But it is the duty of every good citizen to stand for the enforcement of the law, and ask for a square deal for all in the courts. The offender who feels that he is striking for his fire-side, using all means he feels will ever be effective, is as much entitled to a fair hearing as the offender who takes from the poor to pile up mountains high a fortune already swollen into hundreds of millions.

We hope that our country will never know the night rider any more that the great trust will learn moderation in their demands, that all citizens will join in bringing about more wholesome laws and equal enforcement of the ones we now have, that the maelstrom which will sooner or later engulf us all if the whirling eddies we can so plainly see on the surface are not averted.

Lexington, Ky., July 24.—From an authoritative source it was learned today that no price will be put on 1907 burley tobacco now in equity pool...ples...will...gradi...fee...visio...on the...ed," sa...close to...inter...crop when g...per cent, of lo...ger per cent of...which will have...average and put fr...cents more on the poun...pockets of burly growers."

The same authority states that the Executive Board has never discussed the question of raising scale of prices on the 1907 pooled crop, or the feasibility of issuing no crop edict for 1909, as has been demanded by Nicholas county growers. After a careful survey of the situation figures have been compiled by equity people showing that only about thirty million pounds of tobacco will be grown thruout the burley belt this year, which is about one-fifth of the usual crop, showing that the no crop movement has been a decided success.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY A FRIEND OF ALL.

When farmers, smarting under wrongs they could not entirely understand, realized they must organize so as to meet organization with organization, they very naturally looked no further than to the business men they knew for the source of their trouble. The idea did not occur to them that the prices of their own products might be too low and unfairly and improperly made. They had been taught all their lives, as they yet are taught by many whose reasons for such teaching is incomprehensible, that the prices of farm products are made at the fountain head of trade in accordance with some mysterious law, and therefore, they must be right—at least that they were irrevocable. Hence if there was a lack of equity, an unfairness in prices the farmers at that time concluded it must do in the prices they were required to pay.

Their efforts were therefore, directed to a reduction of retailers' prices. Where merchants were stubborn or could see no place for a reduction of prices, the organized farmers formed companies and established stores of their own in opposition to the local trade. Some of these made creditable success but most of them were miserable failures.

The theory and action on the part of the farmers inevitably created antagonism between organized farmers and business men. So bitter came the antagonism that business interests still hold to it, and when farm organization is suggested to local merchants, or even to the wholesale trade, it is at once concluded that an enemy to them is being built up, and they vigorously oppose it.

But this is not true of the American Society of Equity. This organization is unlike many other farm organizations, in that it is built on an entirely different foundation, erected upon a different theory, and aims at an entirely different accomplishment—equity in all the business relations of life.

This society holds that the prices of farm products are the ones that are arbitrarily and unfairly made, that while supply and demand each on the...ed," sa...close to...inter...crop when g...per cent, of lo...ger per cent of...which will have...average and put fr...cents more on the poun...pockets of burly growers."

This theory of farm organization and accomplishment of it job should place, the Society of Equity in the most friendly relations with the legitimate business interests of the country, and they with it. Indeed the society has fully proven its friendliness by opening its doors to business men, inviting them to membership, welcoming them to its councils, and working hand in hand with them in building up home interests. The Society Equity has no secrets from the world, its propositions are plain business ones. Its success makes farmers better off financially, increases their ambitions, refines their tastes, multiplies their wants, gives them the ability to satisfy them and this makes them more abundant purchasers.

The merchant, therefore, or professional man, or any body who is unfriendly to the society is too narrow in his views and selfish in his actions, and he is blocking the path to his own best interests. In many localities the business and professional men understand this and have become members of the society and are helping to lead it on to maturity and to success. In others they give it every assistance by counsel and good words.

In such localities it takes eminently the proper form—that of pure mutuality of interests, leading to "equity in all the business relations of life." And so it may be in every locality.—Farmers Problems.

I will pay 50 cents per two-horse load for stable manure at your stable and have it hauled. S. M. JENKINS.

Lexington, Ky., July 24 —Secretary J. D. Clark, of the Fayette Equity Society, received last night checks to the amount of $15,000 to be distributed among Fayette county tobacco growers for pooled tobacco recently sold.

We insert the above dispatches that our readers may keep in touch with our burley growing people. They have succeeded in selling the crop this year down to 20 per cent of last years crop. This should be argument enough for the skeptic that that the Society of Equity does things, and is here to stay.

THURSDAY, AUG 6, 1908

Dr. Vernon Richard Fox.

Of all the boys of Crittenden county who with their brains their energy and their stick-to-it-iveness have climbed round after round of the ladder, that leads to and honor fame and glory, none have surpassed Vernon Richard Fox, a home boy who returns to Crittenden this week, having just graduated from the Hospital College of Medicine of Louisville Ky., where thru his splendid work in his chosen profession he attained and had bestowed upon him the highest honor of the Medical College from which he graduated last week. After having graduated from the Marion High School he entered the Hospital College of Medicine at Louisville, Ky., where for the past two years he was Demonstrator of Anatomy and acted as assistant professor and as lecturer of the College, honor attained by very few Kentucky students who have on the past graduated from that College. He comes home with the distinction and honor of having made the highest and best grade of all the graduates of the Hospital College of Medicine and in the competitive examination, an examination that is had among those who attain the highest grade on final examination, he again departed himself with honor, by making the highest grade of all in the competitive examination and for his achievement had awarded to him by the Medical College a gold medal, as expression of their appreciation of his proficiency in the science of Medicine. By reason of his attainments he was tendered by this college one years practice in the city hospital of the city of Louisville, this place he graciously tendered to one of his competitors whom he had surpassed and excelled in the final examination before the Faculty of his college. He has formed a partnership with the well known and popular physician Dr. O. C. Cook, of Crayne, Ky. We welcome home this young man who has by proficiency in his studies, the determination to stand at the head, mounted step by step up the ladder of his chosen work until to day he stands at the head of all the graduates of his college and with distinction he returns to take up the practice of medicine among his home people and we predict for him the greatest success in the future.

Birthday Dinner.

On August 1st, 1908, was Wm. P. Loyd's birthday being his 73rd birthday, called in his neighbors to spend the day with him. They began to come in about nine o'clock and by twelve o'clock dinner was announced and as the table groaning under the good things that was prepared his good wife (Ellen) and we all enjoyed the dinner very much, after dinner Prof. Edgar O'Neal furnished the crowd with good music.

Then the crowd presented him with many presents and told him if they thought they had not done the dinner justice, to make another and invite them and they would try it again. He was expecting his sister from Cairo, Ill., who did not arrive, if she had, the whole thing would have been a success. Make another uncle Billie.

Those present were: Wm. Adams, Mrs. Mandenia Adams, Pressley Ford, Mrs. Mary Ford, Wash Deboe, Susie Deboe, Jack Jacobs, Joe Dollar, Ada Dollar, Emma Crowe, Linnie Maxwell, Jim Loyd, Minnie Loyd, Byrd Loyd, Emma Loyd, Sam Watson, Lora Watson, Lucy Sisco, Adline Stovall, Kattie Loyd, F. Farm For Sale.

I have a farm for sale, two miles north of Marion on Memphis Mines road, known as the Jon Moore farm, contains 130 acres, good improvements, two dwellings, barn, stable and all necessary out buildings, lies on Crooked Creek and has 50 acres cleared, 50 acres virgin forest.

MRS. MARY MOORE,
Marion, Ky.

Attend The Farmers' Institute.

The members of our farmers' organizations throughout the county will have a good opportunity to show appreciation of up-to-date methods of farming by attending the "Farmer's Institute" which meets at Marion, Aug. 7th, and 8th.

This meeting is held under the auspices of the State Dept. of Agriculture which provides three men of experience to conduct the same. The Institute is for the benefit of all who will attend and is absolutely without money and without price. The state pays all the expenses of the meeting but since the state draws its revenues from us must attend to get our moneys worth. I regret to say that the attendance at previous annual institutes at Marion been small not enough have to arouse the enthusiasm of the speakers or to justify the expense of the meetings. I am glad this has not been the case in other sections of our state and in other states of our union. In those sections the attendance is large and enthusiastic, and as a result, we find in those vicinities, better kept farms, better live stock and more prosperous farmers than we can boast.

Brother farmers, we must educate in scientific farming, the methods of our fathers are no longer adequate for successful agriculture, they tilled a virgin soil which produced bountiful crops with their crude systems of cultivation. Through ignorance or through carelessness they have failed to preserve the fertility of much of that soil.

The problem which confronts us, is to restore and preserve the fertility of our soil. We owe the solution of this problem both to ourselves and to posterity for the welfare of all mankind, depends upon the productiveness of the soil.

Mr. J. J. Hill, the president of the Northern Paeille R. R. and a man of wide experience affirms that one of the greatest problems that confronts our civilization to-day is the preservation of the fertility of our land.

But any one who will take a half days ride in any direction through Crittenden county will need no railroad president to convince him of the necessity of better systems of farming.

I have mentioned only one subject that might be discussed at a farmers' institute while any thing that is of interest or benefit to farmers is open to conference and discussion.

Brother farmers both of the Union and of the Equity--and non Union farmers too let us demonstrate to the world that we are in earnest in our efforts to better our constitution by attending our institute enmasse and absorbing and profiting by all lessons.

Yours fraternally,
JOE N. DEAN.

IN SOCIETY

The home of Dr. J. O. Dixon was a scene of pleasure on last Friday evening. Misses Mira Dixon and Elviah Pickens entertained a number of friends at a Japanese party. The parlor, reception hall and dining room were beautifully decorated in sweet peas, nasturtiums and asparagus. The lawn made a charming picture with its green plants, bright Japanese lanterns and eery seats. On arriving the guests were met by Misses Dixon and Pickens and were then served with punch by Miss Allie Mae Yates. Each guest was then requested to register in the library, after which they were seated in the lawn. The principal feature of the evening was the "State Contest" and it proved to be very interesting. Twenty-five states were pasted on a black background and the object of the contest was to guess as many states as possible by their shape. Miss Grace Council, of Mayfield won the girls prize a lovely Barette and Sylvan Price won the boys' prize, a handsome pair of cuff buttons. Later in the evening, each guest was given a dainty little fan bearing a state. This was used as a means of matching them off. They were then ushered into the dining room where they were served with elegant refreshments consisting of ice cream, cakes and candies. Misses Ina Price and Allie Mae Yates assisted in serving refreshments. This affair was one of the most enjoyable that has been attended by anyone this summer. The guests registered as follows: Ruth Melton, Malcolm Dolor, Allie Mae Yates, Ted Holifield, Mayfield, Ky., Ina Price, Ira Sutherland, Susie Boston, Douglas Clement, Gwen Haynes, Vernon Traugher, Nashville Tennessee, Lena Holtzelaw, Zola White, Blackford, Alma Asher, Marcia King, Katie Vandell, Grace Council, Mayfield, Sylvan Price, Marian Clement, Madeline Jenkins, Robert Jenkins, Homer Moore, Roy Travis, Coleman Foster, Jesse Croft, Orlin Moore, Nannie Rochester, Edith Burton, James Carless, Katie Yates, Emmett Clifton, Aubrey Cannon, Galen Dixon, Arthur Watkins, Mayfield, Rndye Brinson, Morganfield, Raymond Olive.

gave a lawn party to their young friends Wednesday evening from six to eight o'clock. The time was very pleasantly spent in playing games and contests. Miss Virginia Blue won the prize in the donkey contest and Miss Ruth Melton in the clothespin doll contest. Refreshments of ices punch and cake were served. Those who attended were: Maymie Haynes, Ruth Croft, Helen Sayre, Ada Ford, of Webster City Iowa, Hazel and Lucile Pollard, Joanna Rankin, Linda Jenkins, Lolea Frazier, Lottie and Ethel Vick, Louise and Alice Chapman, of Chicago, Geneva Daniels, Virginia Blue, Margaret and Francis Woods, of St. Louis, Miriam Blackburn, Elizabeth King, Gladys Baker, Mary Weldon, Elizabeth Cook, Nelle Olive, Joyce Adams, Ruth Melton, Jamie Rhea McConnell, Louise Clement, Elizabeth Rochester, Marie Wallace, Jimmie Wallace, Bernice Sutherland, Roberta Moore, Leona and Nannie Miller, Mary Dollar, Gladys Fay and Alice Wallace.

Many have paid in the fee of $3.00 for this year's work; more have not. This work of improving the cemetery can be carried on only by a co-operation of those interested there. Kidney Pills to be a most effective the purposes for which they are in-acute lameness in my back commonly called "erick" which caught me when arising from a stooping position. The kidney secretions were exceedingly irregular and I felt miserable. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Haynes & Taylieving me of all these annoyances, this remedy my highest endorse-
